Our Teleconferencing Webinars are designed for individuals interested in or adding to the conversation or experiences of those whose voices are underrepresented in the workplace. An professional expert, with practical knowledge will conduct the webinars.

Our objective is to educate, inform, disclose and discuss uncomfortable situations and successful outcomes. For many, our webinars are designed to let individuals know they are not alone with their workplace struggles.

Consequently, our teleconferencing webinars are open to all interested parties. Interested individuals must be registered a week before the webinar. Join our discussions.
